BIO

I.J Steinberg is a professional multimedia writer and an alumnus of the Savannah College of Art and Design. I.J joined Upwork.com in 2012 and was counted in the top 20th percentile of creative writing from the get-go.

Today he continues to work with diverse clients and collaborators both online and throughout metro Atlanta. There he works as a part-time freelance multimedia writer while pursuing local press publishing.

I.J is the author of the Kindle eBook Architects, a 9-story anthology which quickly garnered a large readership in the Northeast upon its release. Currently I.J is working to earn his masters degree in english teaching to inspire a new generation of readers and writers.
